Fliers Crashed Into Hill Making Forced Landing

Pilot George Pond Had One of His Ribs Dislocated and Is Treated in Hospital at Cardiff; He and Sabelli Were Flying From Rome to Dublin on First Leg of Return Transatlantic Flight When Disaster Intervened

DR. PROCTOR DIES OF WOUND

Well-known B.C. Medical Man Succumbed in Vancouver Hospital To-day

Newport, Pembrokeshire, Wales, Aug. 20.—A serious dislocation of one of George Pond's ribs as a result of the crash of the Pond-Sabelli transatlantic airplane was disclosed by an X-ray examination at a hospital here to-day.

Arrangements were made for the doctor to be treated by a specialist at Cardiff.

Pond, meanwhile, was able to move about and both he and his flying companion, Cesare Sabelli, visited Newport Castle, where they were commiserated by the occupant, Lady Lloyd.

PLANE IS WRACKED

Newport, Pembrokeshire, Wales, Aug. 20.—George Pond and Cesare Sabelli, who were flying from Rome to Dublin, crashed into a hillside here to-day.

The plane was seen when it attempted to make a forced landing on a hill near the town.

The plane was buried near the top of a 200-foot escarpment. It is reported to be too hot to see if salvage is possible.

Pond and Sabelli, who were forced down at 10 p.m., on the west coast of Wales, after flying the Atlantic in 11 days, spent all day Sunday in bed recovering from effects of their crash.

Pond, who was piloting, was not hurt. Sabelli, who was co-pilot, was injured and is being treated at a hospital here.

"We were lucky to escape with our lives," Pond said.

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Aug. 20.—Dr. A. P. Proctor, chief medical officer in Vancouver for the Canadian Pacific Railway, died to-day as the result of an abdominal bullet wound alleged to have been inflicted on him in his office August 8 by T. A. Sargood of Revelstoke, B.C., now suffering from a serious bullet wound which police say was self-inflicted.

The sixty-five-year-old physician was shot through the lower chest. For some time attending physicians held out hope for his recovery, but late last week they realized he was not making the progress that had been expected.

Sargood, a former C.P.R. locomotive fireman, had suffered from a serious condition of the lungs. Dr. Proctor had found him physically unfit to continue at work and this fact, (Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

Rivals For Job As Hitler's First Assistant

With Hitler's election to the German Presidency, rumors say the head leader plans to appoint an assistant Reichs-leader, who would be the second most powerful official in the nation. A hot fight for the position has produced three rivals (left), General Werner von Blomberg, minister of war and chief of the Reichswehr; (center), Alfred Hugenberg, millionaire publisher and (right), General Hermann Goering, the "muffed fist" of Germany.

Last Ten Per Cent Must Be Won Over, Says Nazi Leader After Plebiscite

To Enact Law On Kidnapping

Attorney-General of Ontario Would Give Wider Authority To Police

Canadian Press
Ottawa, Aug. 20.—"I will ask the Ontario Legislature to enact a law giving the police authority to close bank accounts, seal deposit vaults and generally take protective control of the affairs of all in position to pay ransom while a wanted police force trails any person kidnapped in future," Hon. Arthur W. Robb, Ontario Attorney-General, stated in an interview here to-day.

Questioned closely on the Lehart mystery, Mr. Robb politely declined to give any new clues on that case. "Nothing would be given out until he returned to Toronto," he said.

"We are anxious to solve the Lehart riddle, but for the moment it can't be solved in the news columns," the Attorney-General said. "The press will get the whole story soon, I hope."

There are two methods and two methods only by which, as I see it, kidnapping can be combated," Attorney-General Robb said. "The first method is a much more efficient police force, as the likelihood of escape by the kidnappers will be cut off to the limit of human ability. The second method is successfully combating kidnapping by making the business unprofitable."

To achieve the latter, the state must step in to take protective control of the affairs of all those whose sympathies can be played on by the kidnappers, or their relatives or friends, he said.

"Don't think so," was the reply to a question as to whether he had gone to the Lehart case. "Office functions said his visit concerned unemployment relief."

Presidential Election Results in Germany given as 38,362,760 For and 4,294,654 Against "Der Fuehrer," Who Sustained Distinct Loss in Major Voting Districts; Number of "No" Votes Twice Those Cast in November Reichstag Election.

Associated Press
Berlin, Aug. 20.—Adolf Hitler to-day took cognizance of the one-two-of-ten-votes opposition in yesterday's plebiscite with the declaration: "We must and shall succeed in winning over the last 10 per cent of the nation for National Socialism."

His statement was made in a proclamation to the National Socialist (Nazi) Party following the issuance of preliminary official results showing the following figures:

"Yes," 38,362,760.
"No," 4,294,654.

Hitler thanked the Nazis for "yesterday's glorious victory."

"We shall," he declared, "carry on with fresh courage. We must and shall succeed in winning over the last 10 per cent of the nation for National Socialism. That will be our last and crowning victory."

ROCKLAWSON

In a proclamation to the German people as a whole, Dr. Goebbels declared:

"The fifteen years' struggle of our movement for power in Germany came to an end yesterday. From the leadership of the Reich down to the last rural official, the realm to-day is the realm of the National Socialist Party."

"This is the reward for ten years' struggle and for countless sacrifices. I thank all those who yesterday helped demonstrate the unity of the state and of the movement before the whole world. My task and the task of all of us will be to guide this unity and to see to it that the rest of our people to our ideals and doctrine by inspired, intelligent and determined action."

"Decisions to this effect already have been taken and they will be carried out with national wisdom and determination."

"The struggle for state power is ended but the struggle for our beloved people continues. Our aim is to improve the lot of every German. Every last German shall carry in his heart the symbol of the Reich as a conclusion of faith."

Another important statement by Hitler was written to Werner von Blomberg, Minister of Defense. The Chancellor told Von Blomberg: "How the day of August 8 has received its confirmation by the vote of the people, I thank you and the army for the oath of allegiance to me as their leader and commander-in-chief."

"The entire army and the entire soldiers pledged themselves to the new state as personified by me, as shall I consider at all times my highest duty to be to defend the state and inviolability of the army in fulfillment of the testament of the late departed Field Marshal (von Hindenburg) in accordance with my own will to anchor the army as the sole bearer of arms within the nation."

CHURCH FIRE IS MYSTERY

Roman Catholic Edifice Destroyed in Newfoundland Fishing Community

Canadian Press
Briggs, Nfld., Aug. 20.—A mysterious fire leveled the Roman Catholic Church and parsonage here and threatened to wipe out this fishing community before village brought it under control.

Flames breaking through the roof of the church, Saturday night, sent up a column of smoke and flames that were seen from the village. The village has no fire department.

A shifting wind carried the flames away from the main group of structures after what was described as a "terrifying" hour.

Wolves Haunt Patriot's Tomb

Bounty Offered For Animals Frequenting Sun-Yat-Sen's Grave in China

Canadian Press
Nanking, China, Aug. 20.—The headquarters of the guards stationed at the Sun Yat-sen Mausoleum Park have offered a reward of 500 in Chinese money for every wolf, dead or alive, captured in or around the park.

This action was decided upon when guards found that they could not keep the wolves under control. Either singly or in groups of two or three the wolves have killed and carried away many children who have come from the surrounding villages to the hills to gather firewood, roots and berries.

The decision of the headquarters to rid this district of these wolves, however, has not been done without some opposition. "A small group of people," the park authorities said, "are afraid that these wolves should be left alone as they are 'patriotic wolves.'"

This "patriotic" according to the park authorities, was manifested when the wolves refused to attack Mr. Kuroki, the wandering Japanese violinist, who disappeared in Nanking and was later found by the Nanking police on the mountain behind the mausoleum.

Had the wolves attacked the violinist, China would have been embroiled with Japan in another "incident," the group argues, but as the wolves left him alone, they must have been governed by "patriotic motives" and therefore should be left alone.

Australians Out For 701 Runs In Last Test Match

England Starts Batting, Scoring Ninety For No Wickets After Preventing Antipodeans From Setting Another Batting Record

Canadian Press Cable
The Oval, London, Aug. 20.—Fighting with their backs to the wall England to-day scored ninety runs for no wickets, at the close of the second day's play in the crucial test cricket match with Australia. Earlier the Aussies were finally dismissed for a near-record first innings total of 701 runs.

The English, undismayed by the staggering Australian harvest of runs that came only twenty-eight short of a new test record, set out valiantly to overtake their opponents. Although there was less than a hour of play left, the veteran, Herbert Sutcliffe and C. P. Walker, got the English away to a bright start with a spurt of fast scoring that had the attackers baffled.

Before the Australians had all been dismissed, the tail-end going fairly cheaply, W. H. Ponder carried his score to 268 runs and then hit his wicket on a delivery of G. O. B. Allen. It topped the 264 of Don Bradman on Saturday, when the pair saved his new test cricket partnership record by putting on 481 for the second wicket.

W. A. Oldfield made a fine stand at the close and was unbeaten with forty-two runs to his credit. The end of the Australian innings came shortly after the regular tea interval. The match will be fought to a finish since each country has won one of the four previous games, with two draws.

It rained for half an hour during the morning, light rain that did not promise to affect the wicket to any extent.

THE PLAY

Allen started the bowling with Stanley McCabe, who had gone in to bat shortly before Saturday's close, which saw the Australians post 479 for two wickets.

Speaker of House of Representatives Succumbs in St. Louis

Associated Press
St. Louis, Aug. 20.—Henry T. Rainey, picturesque speaker of the United States House of Representatives, is dead.

Apparently on the road to recovery from an attack of rheumatoid pneumonia, he suddenly developed pneumonia last night and died at 7:40 p.m. as three physicians, hastily summoned, stood by, unable to aid him.

To-day would have been his seventy-fourth birthday.

The speaker's unexpected passing brought expressions of deep sorrow from political leaders in all parts of the United States — from President Roosevelt down.

The President called him "A humanitarian whose fine patriotism thought first of all of what he conceived to be the well being and interests of the common man."

The body will be cremated, in accordance with a wish Mrs. Rainey said her husband had often expressed.

Funeral arrangements probably will be completed to-day when Senator William H. Dierck, Democrat, Ill., goes to Carleton to confer with Mrs. Rainey.

Sooke Youth Dies After Motor Smash

James Richardson, Injured in Smash on Gorge Road This Morning Passes at Jubilee Hospital; Heroic Act of Companion Saves Sister

James Richardson, Church Road, Sooke, died at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon from head and chest injuries received in a traffic accident on the Gorge Road at 9:45 o'clock this morning. An inquest will be held on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the R. J. Curry and Son Funeral Home.

In connection with the accident, Wilfred Pedrick, 2800 Beach Road, saved his sister and himself from injury by displaying the same presence of mind which two years ago was responsible for his receiving the Royal Humane Society award for lifesaving when he rescued a drowning companion from the waters at Swan Lake.

According to the Sooke police, Richardson, a boy of sixteen and a half, was driving his motorcycle and was on the Gorge Road and had started down Sooke Hill, near Titillium Road, Wilfred and Doris Pedrick were in the motor. The three were starting on a fishing trip.

Proceeding ahead of them down the hill was a motorist which was about to pass a parked vegetable wagon. The motorist driver applied his brakes suddenly as he came out to pass the wagon, because of an approaching wood truck.

BALLOON WAS LOST IN SKIES

Cosyns and Vanderlist Failed to Establish Stratosphere Record

Associated Press
Barfleur, Yucatan, Aug. 20.—A balloon that raced through the cloudless stratosphere in the arms of times of a seventy-mile wind, spanning 1,100 miles between dawn and dusk, has come to a happy landing.

Lost in the unexplored skies after its mission was a dramatic "B.O.S." balloon, the balloon of the Belgian scientific Max Cosyns and Nere Vanderlist, dropped out of the sky Saturday night in a corn field near Elaville, safe and undamaged.

The balloon failed to set a new height mark, doing no better than 16,000 meters (approximately 52,000 feet); but the flight was productive, according to Professor Cosyns, of "scientific observations of the highest value."

"I made certain discoveries and deductions respecting the movements and efforts of cosmic rays which I think will be of great value to science," the Belgian professor told the Associated Press.

Cosyns and Vanderlist spent most of yesterday dismantling the balloon and arranging for shipment back to Belgium of the records obtained during the flight. The Yucatan government must provide assistance in this work, furnishing trucks for the transportation of the equipment to Mexico.

CAPONE GOES TO NEW JAIL

Associated Press
New Orleans, Aug. 20.—Al Capone, No. 1 public enemy of the United States long before the world had heard of John Dillinger, is on his way to a new prison home.

He is being transferred, with great secrecy, from Atlanta Penitentiary to the new Alcatraz Prison in San Francisco Bay. The federal prison authorities call "imprisonable."

With forty-two other prisoners, Capone was whisked out of the penitentiary in Atlanta in the early hours of Sunday. Guarded by a picked squad of federal agents carrying automatic weapons, the prisoners were placed in two specially built armored and barred railroad cars and started on their way to Alcatraz. The island prison fortress designed for convicts fortified for convicts to be kept in ordinary prison.

Vancover Bakers Selling at Six

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Aug. 20.—Bakers of greater Vancouver, have decided at a general meeting that the price of bread to retail stores here will in future be 6 cents a loaf and 7 cents delivered.

Fred J. Ekins, managing secretary of the Bakers' Association, stated stabilization of the bread price was necessary because of the advance in flour prices and ingredients costs.

"During the last two or three years, the practice of using bread as a sales-bait has been prevalent in Vancouver and other cities throughout the country, resulting in a depression of the baking industry," he added.

He declared the stabilization price of bread in Vancouver is less than in any other city on the Pacific Coast.

MAN KILLED IN JAIL FIGHT

Associated Press
Pontiac, Ill., Aug. 20.—Leo Pellik, twenty-four, a convict sentenced from Chicago, died Saturday night as a result of bullet wounds inflicted during a rioting, which brought injuries to twenty-two convicts and three guards in the Illinois State Reformatory.

Pellik was sentenced to one to ten years, for grand larceny, in 1922.

For more than an hour the battle raged between guards and convicts, and only volleys from guards' rifles brought quiet to the prison yard.

Several inmates were in a serious condition, prison officials said, and three guards were slightly injured. Damage to the print shop was estimated at $25,000.

Peace was established in the prison, which houses youths and young men convicted of felonies, an hour after the rioting broke out.

A squabble between two inmates precipitated the affray during the fourth tanning of a baseball game between a prison team and the St. Nicholas Hotel team of Springfield, Ill.

At the first sign of trouble, several convicts jumped into the fight, and soon the youths were milling about in disorder. Three prison officials attempted to quell the disturbance, but were pounced upon by leaders of the insurrection, and slightly injured.

TREASURE HELD IN PALESTINE

Associated Press
London, Aug. 20.—After five months unearthing many treasures of ancient times, Sir Flinders Petrie has had to return to London with only photographs of his finds.

The authorities of Palestine have refused to allow the treasures to be removed from the country, and an appeal is to be made to Whitehall.

Formerly the regulations governing the excavations in Palestine provided that the Jerusalem Museum should have the first pick and the excavator a "fair half."

On this understanding, Sir Flinders Petrie, who is the leading Egyptologist and excavator in England, set out with his party of unpaid workers six months ago. They unearthed thousands of gold and precious ornaments. These they submitted to the Jerusalem Museum for their pick, and then came the seizure of the Palestine authorities.

"As the position is delicate, I do not wish to enter into a discussion of details," stated Sir Flinders Petrie. "I have approached the officials in London who deal with the mandated territories, and maintain all the objects to be unearthed are in the museum at Jerusalem. I gave the authorities there a catalogue and drawings of 1,500 objects. There were 140 pieces of gold work."

ROBBED BANK TO AID WIFE

G. McDonald, Former Canadian Policeman, Among Men Released From Prison

Associated Press
Columbus, Ohio, Aug. 20.—A former Canadian policeman who said he committed a $50,000 bank robbery in the United States to pay his wife's hospital bills, was started today on his way to reunion with his wife in Nova Scotia—one of the first assignments of prisoners in Governor George White's repatriation programme.

There were four other Ohio penitentiary inmates with him. In the custody of immigration officers they were released yesterday for Canada, their former home, years trimmed off their sentences by executive commutation.

The former policeman, George McDonald, alias Westaway, thirty-five, was sentenced in Toledo, Ohio, to serve fifteen to twenty-five years. He had nine years to go on the first commutation when the governor's penitentiary release for him.

Others in the first assignment to Canada were: Jess Malone, forty-three, admitted to Ohio penitentiary May 17, 1929, to serve ten to twenty-five years; Howard Berlinguet, thirty-eight, admitted November 21, 1921, ten to twenty-five years; James Sudbury, admitted June 20, 1921, ten to twenty-five years, and Sam Giamasino, admitted June 18, 1920, five to twenty years. They were sentenced from Cuyahoga County, all for robbery, except Giamasino, who was convicted of manslaughter.

GLAMIS CASTLE BEING GUARDED

Threats Said to Have Been Made Against Duke and Duchess of York

Associated Press
London, Aug. 20.—The Sunday Express reports that the Duke and Duchess of York and their two daughters, Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose, who are in the Highlands of Scotland, are being guarded by armed men "as though every casual visitor to the district were a potential gangster."

The little Princesses, the younger of whom will be four Tuesday, are in Glamis castle "pending their summer holiday behind bolted, double-locked gates," the paper says.

Every gateway to the grounds, The Sunday Express reports, is guarded by members of the Angus police force and gamekeepers, and the wooded avenues approaching the castle are patrolled day and night.

It states that the inhabitants of Glamis, who were accustomed to see Princess Elizabeth and her nurse move freely through the village in previous years, are now guarded at the precautions, the paper says.

"There are whisperings that anonymous letters have been received by the Duchess of York suggesting a plot to kidnap the Princesses."

Even stricter precautions were said to be in operation at Gannochy, twenty-five miles away, where the Duke and Duchess are members of J. Pierpont Morgan's shooting party and where the guards include two detectives of Morgan's personal bodyguard, who always are armed, and gamekeepers and beaters attached to the Gannochy grouse moors.

Canadian Press Cable
London, Aug. 20.—Unqualified denial was forthcoming today of the report printed in a Sunday paper that Princess Elizabeth and Margaret Rose were being specially guarded at Glamis Castle in Scotland, because of kidnapping threats.

The reason the children have not been seen in the nearby village lately, an authority said, was because of an outbreak of scarlet fever from which they are being sheltered. Otherwise the entire household enjoys complete freedom, not a single detective being in attendance.

Nanaimo Moves To Restore Coal Trade And Develop Mining

Bureau Formed By Citizens to Pursue Development Plans; H. N. Freeman Tells of Island's Possibilities in Steel, Gold, Timber and Coal

Special to The Times
Nanaimo, August 20.—Nanaimo formed a Bureau of Mines on Saturday night to pursue development of the mining industry in that section of Vancouver Island.

H. Shepherd, J. Manion and S. Woods were named as the initial committee, which will go into the matter of organization and report back to a citizens' meeting shortly.

This action followed an address by H. N. Freeman, mining engineer, to a general audience presented over by Mayor Barclay, in which he discussed the island's resources and the possibility of making Nanaimo the mining centre of the island.

Appointment of the committee was a joint move by the Board of Trade, the City Council and the citizens generally, and represents determined action on the part of the community to restore, mainly, its coal business and then to go on and expand as the real hub of island business.

Mr. Freeman pointed out coal mining had built Nanaimo, and would help to build it again. Not enough interest had been shown by those interested, and consequently fuel oil had stepped in and put something over the coal mining industry.

Electric power could be generated more cheaply by coal than by fuel oil, yet lack of interest and united action had allowed oil to come in and take away the livelihood of those depending upon coal mining.

The time for action was right now, and only concentrated effort would do anything.

"We want industries," he said. "We have at our back door the greatest block of timber in the province. United States-financed companies logged off our timber, took it to the States to be manufactured and shipped it from Canada to the Old Country to obtain preference."

Referring to gold mining, Mr. Freeman said on Vancouver Island were a number of prospects which may become good producing mines. Many prospects were as good as any in the Cariboo district. Only last week $10,000 worth of gold was brought into Nanaimo, taken from a mine in the Alberni Canal zone closed forty years ago.

Mr. Freeman said his idea would be to give Nanaimo publicity through mining and industrial magazines in regard to lumber, mining and fishing. The speaker deprecated the lack of a bureau for prospectors in Nanaimo. Prospectors who had something good had to go to Vancouver to get backing to open up their properties.

He spoke of possible establishment of steel works, stating that from thirty to 150 miles from Nanaimo there was the finest body of iron ore, hematite and magnetite in Canada. If a steel works were established the Coast would be able to furnish the finished product for export to Japan and China, instead of scrap iron.

The E. & N. belt, he said, carried reserves of coal and mineral which could be worked to the great benefit of the island people.

Mr. Freeman said he expected to see three or four mines open up in the Alberni Canal zone, and if the proper organization were ready this industry would employ island labor.

He suggested an organization such as a mining bureau could take up the question of reciprocal trading with Victoria and Vancouver wholesalers, who sold their goods to Nanaimo, and should buy coal in return, instead of using fuel oil.

Joseph Nicholas, a member of the Industrial Relations Board, said the meeting must take into consideration there were four major industries: mining, lumber, fishing and agriculture, and said the committee should represent all of them. Conditions in Nanaimo were worse than anywhere in the province. He said a thirty-year-old locomotive had been converted from oil to coal at a saving of 45 per cent, which he claimed was a progressive step.

H. N. Freeman was tendered a vote of thanks for his address.

To Dispose Of Wheat Surplus

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
London, Aug. 20.—The French government expects to dispose of the greater part of its surplus wheat stocks within France, the World Wheat Conference was informed today by Paul Devinat, French delegate.

Measures to be taken to this end, he said, include continuation of the measures to increase the milling percentage of wheat, and denaturing to divert a large quantity of wheat to animal consumption.

TO BREAK DEADLOCK
London, Aug. 20 (Canadian Press)—Paul Devinat of France today submitted proposals to the World Wheat Commission designed to break the existing deadlock over export quotas for the current year which began this month.

The French proposals, submitted with the support of Switzerland, were understood to provide for creation of an international wheat export "reserve," over and above the export allowances fixed for each exporting country.

This reserve would be under the control of the wheat advisory committee, and if conditions warranted it would be empowered to recommend exports from the reserves supplemental to the allotted quotas.

Thus, it is argued, the quota system would be made more flexible. In other words, the figure would be additional to the export figures for each country, and would be available to be allotted out of it to any particular nation in need.

A subcommittee, consisting of representatives of the Argentine, Canada, the United States, France, Britain, Hungary and Switzerland, was appointed to consider this proposal and report. The World Wheat Conference itself will meet again tomorrow and hopes to conclude its sessions on Wednesday.

Devinat told the conference the French government attaches the utmost importance to the effective maintenance of the wheat agreement. He strongly emphasized the need for continuous use of an effective system of export quotas.

"We believe," he added, "that it is necessary to introduce a greater degree of flexibility into the export quota system. We therefore strongly support the proposal before the committee for subdivision of the crop year quotas into quarterly periods."

France also strongly favored setting aside a certain percentage of the estimated world demand as a reserve, the allocation of which would remain in the hands of the wheat advisory committee, he said.

"Hey! You just put that hat back on my head. Do you want me to get sunstroke?"

PARTY TO STUDY FOOD PRODUCTS

British Food Distributors Making Tour of Eastern Canada

Canadian Press
Montreal, Aug. 20.—A party of sixty-two British members of the food distributing trades are in Montreal today. This is the first time they are visiting on a fortnight's tour of Eastern Canada to study Canadian products and marketing possibilities. The tour which has been given the name of "Maple Leaf tour," is sponsored by Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Canadian High Commissioner in London, who is now on a visit to the Dominion.

Canadian wheat is absolutely indispensable to any good food product, J. H. Morrell, Casspell, Wain, chairman of the National Association of Master Bakers of Great Britain, declared. This member of the group said Canadian wheat was subject to heavy competition in Great Britain but believed there would be a considerable increase in its sale to Great Britain if some method of price regulation were evolved there.

BANDITS RAID JAPANESE STORE

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Aug. 20.—Four youthful bandits, whom police believe were operating from a stolen automobile, last night held up Mrs. K. Baito, Japanese, in her store on West Fourth Avenue and escaped with $15 in cash.

Mrs. Baito reported to police that three men, one of them armed with a black submachine, entered her store. While one stood guard by the door, another held her covered and the third bandit looted the cash register. The three men fled outside where a fourth member of the gang awaited them in an automobile.

GERMANY VOTES "JA"

IN THE ORDINARY WAY IN COUNTRIES where the democratic system of government operates, a vote of 38,362,760 in favor of an administration's policies compared with 4,394,654 in opposition to those policies would be considered a triumph so overwhelming as to make any comment beyond one expressing complete satisfaction quite negligible. Yet the German people, or at least ninety per cent of those who voted yesterday on the plebiscite to endorse Chancellor Hitler's assumption of the powers of President, have not done what was expected of them by their dictator and his lieutenants. In the waning hours of the most intensive propaganda campaign ever conducted in Germany it was freely stated by the powers that be that unless Hitler obtained a hundred per cent endorsement in support of his appeal for extended authority, it would be construed as a sign of his declining power.

It is difficult to understand why Chancellor Hitler and his Minister of National Enlightenment and Propaganda Goebbels expected a hundred per cent endorsement of the latest proposal. Even assuming that the ballot had been, by devious ways, stripped of its secrecy, there would surely be some bold spirits who would vote "Nein" instead of "Ja." For it must be remembered that only a year or so ago in the Reichstag election something like 15,000,000 votes were rolled up in hostility to Hitler's plan of National Socialism as the vehicle of the Reich's delivery from her troubles. Last November's plebiscite which had to do with Germany's international policy—mainly her withdrawal from the League of Nations, then a popular move—attracted 43,453,000 "Ja" votes, while in the Reichstag election which followed soon afterwards, the Nazi vote was reduced to 39,655,224. The drop of more than a million below this test, however, seems to have caught the special attention of the British press which, as with some commentators in Germany—sees the Hitler star beginning to sink low in the horizon.

Says The Daily Express: "Humpty-Dumpty sat on a wall; Humpty-Dumpty had a great fall." Indeed, most of the leading London dailies put a great deal more emphasis on the negative than on the positive vote. Ten per cent in opposition, after the whirlwind campaign, is regarded as a sign that the opponents of Hitler are not now nearly as hesitant in expressing their hostility as they were even a few months ago. The June massacres, says The Express, are not forgotten—and not all the whitewashing of Joseph Goebbels can put Hitler back on the eminence he fell from at that time."

The News-Chronicle says the result of the plebiscite "encourages the hope that the forces of sanity and reason, which always have existed in the German nation, have begun at last to reassert themselves," while The Daily Mail is wondering what use Hitler will make of the vote of confidence which has been given him, observing, finally, that "the whole world is anxiously awaiting the answer to that question." This is the point. What will Hitler's next move be, now that he is President-Chancellor-Dictator rolled into one?

FIGHTING FOR THE "ASHES"

WHEN THE AUSTRALIANS ENDED their innings in the fifth and final test match to-day they had amassed 701 runs—just twenty-five runs short of the all-time test match record. It was a notable performance, and the names of W. H. Ponsford and Don Bradman will go down on the record in brilliant letters; Ponsford ran up 266 and Bradman 244.

There is what is known in cricket as a "tail end." But it made no difference at the Oval to-day. The real "tail" was told in the fall of wickets. One for twenty-one, two for 472! Seven for 638 and "all out" for 701 was consolation for those Australians who looked at the score board and saw "one for twenty-one!"

England, however, went in, still having the advantage of the same "wicket," and rolled up ninety for no casualties when play closed this evening. This is to be a fight to the finish. Cricket enthusiasts are now wondering which team will garner in the mythical "Ashes."

PEACE—EVERYBODY'S BUSINESS

"How can war be averted, you ask. Let me first suggest some things which will not prevent war. We can not stop it by passing pious resolutions. The actions of peace societies are useful in an educational sense, but they will not stop war. No assertions that war is a bad thing will prevent war breaking out. Once the man hysteria that war breeds breaks loose, there is no stopping it. Declarations made in quiet moments will be swept aside. Facilitate resistance is no remedy, once war has come."—Hon. Vincent Massey, former Canadian Minister to the United States, at Kiwanis Convention.

MR. MASSEY ELABORATED HIS IDEA of what is required to prevent war. He declared that peace must be organized; risks must be taken to secure it; it must be bought at a price. The price of war must be brought home to every man, so that he will realize the forces working for war; the operation of order and decency must be extended from the national to the international sphere. The former Canadian Minister to the United States took for his subject, "Peace Is Everybody's Business"—and he spoke during the "International Hour" at the Toronto gathering.

Dipping back into history, Mr. Massey recalled the nineteenth century disarmament convention between Canada and the United States, noting that the Rush-Bagot Treaty of 1817 restricted the naval forces of both countries on the Great Lakes and Lake Champlain to four vessels of one hundred tons, each armed with one eighteen-pounder gun. As Mr. Massey quite truly said: "It sounds to-day like a very mild measure indeed, but it represented an early demonstration of international commonsense."

That early demonstration of commonsense has lasted well over a century. It stands out as a beacon-light to the world at large; but the world at large does not seem to be impressed by it. To-day, the nations of the world are spending more on armaments than they were spending on armaments before the war to end war was fought. The figure is something like five billions a year—and in recent months the armament firms are reported to have been doing better business than at any time since the Great War ended in the early winter of 1918. Mr. Massey, however, had something to say during the course of his speech which suggested that this is no time for self-complacency in regard to the example which Canadian-United States friendship sets for the rest of the world. We quote from his speech:

In all seriousness, we may derive satisfaction from our relationships here in North America, but it is perhaps well that we should refrain from boasting. I do not think that undue pride is very helpful in international relations. If we have been able to develop relationships here on this continent which seem based on good feeling and a decent sense of neighborliness, it has been greatly helped by the fact that we have been able to start afresh here in North America without the embarrassing legacies of old feuds and quarrels, and without the great pressure of population which makes the problems of Europe so difficult to solve. It is well not to become self-complacent; and whatever virtues we have, they should not be cloistered virtues. They should serve us to come to grips with the problems of continents less favored than ours, for though the problems may be different, the basic principles of international accord are everywhere the same. Indeed, we can not get very far in solving questions in any sphere of human relationships, without endeavoring to understand other peoples' difficulties.

Modern science, of course, has changed frontiers and whittled down the invulnerability of nations. Mr. Stanley Baldwin said only a little while ago that "when you think of the defence of England you no longer think of the chalk cliffs of Dover; you think of the Rhine. That is where, to-day, our frontier lies." So that when Mr. Massey says we should "come to grips with the problems of continents less favored than ours," he is merely recognizing that much as Canada and the United States want to have nothing to do with the troubles of the peopled peoples of continental Europe, it may be that at some time in the future, unless nations demonstrate the "international commonsense" of which he speaks, this continent may be drawn into another conflict.

"SCOTTY" WINS

YOUNG "SCOTTY" CAMPBELL OF Seattle retained his Canadian Amateur Golf Championship crown at Laval-sur-le-Lac on Saturday. The youngster who won the trophy at Vancouver last year up against "Sandy" Somerville, four times Canadian amateur champion and once United States amateur champion. They played superb golf in the morning round and were all square as they went to lunch. They were all square at the thirty-first hole. It was anybody's game.

Young Campbell, just twenty years old, did not wilt under the experience of "Silent Sandy."

The proof of this is found in the afternoon scores. Campbell's was sixty-eight; Somerville's seventy.

These scores, of course, are approximate. They serve, however, to show what caused the Canadian's loss.

WAR'S AFTERMATH

A FIRE RECENTLY SWEEPED THROUGH a part of Apremont Forest, near Chalons-sur-Marne, France. Immediately the air was filled with the crash of exploding shells which jarred the countryside and put the fire-fighters in grave danger.

Bitter fighting took place in this forest during the war. Many shells were shot into it. Some of them were "duds" and failed to explode. So they lay there waiting for the fire to come and touch them off.

There is something very ghastly about the thought of those messengers of death biding their time in the depth of a peaceful forest. But they simply parallel the effects of war in human relations.

War leaves many unexploded shells—hatreds, jealousies, suspicions, injustices, desires for revenge—and they lie inert, sometimes for many years, waiting for the moment of heat that will blow them up and let them destroy human lives.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

DUST
 The Detroit News

J. N. Darling, who as "Ding" the cartoonist, has made millions laugh, recently said that human avarice accounts for the dust storm that recently swept over the country. Denuding the land of forests and draining 17,000,000 acres of lakes, creeks and marshes through greed for gain without regard to consequences, brought about a condition making such a storm possible. Conservationists a generation ago sounded such warnings but were not heeded.

WHY NOT?
 The Halifax Herald

Golf, in Walter Hagen's opinion is "a game for philosophers—not for optimists."

Golf is a good game, a game of the open air and sunshine, a clean wholesome game, that should be played by many more people.

The difficulty is, many people cannot afford golf in its modern setting. The expense is too great for the majority of people. Therefore, as is frequently the case where there is an element of the exclusive, certain types seek to erect on the basic game itself a superstructure that is not of the game at all.

Most people who play golf do it for healthy recreation and love of the game; and this majority should be careful to see that exclusiveness is not permitted anywhere to merge into snobbery. Because there are snobs in this world, and it would be a miracle if all of them could be kept off golf courses.

For our own part, we would like to see a fine game like golf placed within the reach of all. It has been done in other lands; why not in this?

Loose Ends

An imaginary long distance call from Ottawa to Victoria—where it is so nice and cool—reminded me, Juneau at ten times—and a remarkable discovery down south.

By R. E. W.

LONG DISTANCE

OPERATOR: SAID the voice on the wire from Parliament Hill, "this is Mr. R. E. W. Bennett, calling the Honorable R. E. W. Bennett, in Victoria, B.C. Is that you, Harry?"

"Yes, this is R. E. W.," said the voice on the other end of the wire, "how's your health? My, but it's lovely and cool out here in Victoria and the people are so kind—"

"Harry, you've got to cut out all this radical stuff you've been spreading all over the country. Our friends back here are going crazy. They don't pick up the evening paper for fear of what they'll read about you."

"You know, R. E. W. I was out walking in the park here just now, beside the sea—so cool and refreshing to the spirit."

"You listen to me, Harry, that booklet of yours has got all over the country. We can't seem to stop it. I can't understand it, R. E. W. really I can't. I did my best to keep that speech I made absolutely secret. I even went to the trouble of having 2,000 copies of it printed at my own expense. I don't see what money I could do to prevent its distribution to the public."

"It's a funny thing, Harry, that the booklet turned up in newspaper offices all over the country on exactly the same day."

"Almost what you'd call a coincidence, isn't it, chief? Who do you suppose is responsible for this dastardly outrage?"

"I think I could find him—if I was in Victoria."

"You think he is in Victoria, Mr. Premier? I can hardly believe it. Everyone here is so thoughtful and kind."

"Every time you get out of my sight, Harry, something happens. Last time I left you alone in Ottawa you started this printed greed business on your own. Now you get into this mess. If it wouldn't break the cabinet up completely I'd fire you right now. That's what I ought to do, you—"

"Now don't do anything foolish, Harry. I didn't mean anything personal, of course. Come back, all is forgiven."

"What am I to tell the newspapers then, R. E. W.?"

"Oh, tell them that there has never been any disagreement between us. Tell them that the attempt to make it appear that we disagree on anything under the sun is just wicked Liberal propaganda. You know, the usual thing."

"Sure, the usual thing. Good-bye, R. E. W. You should see how cool it is out here, and the people are so kind. I almost feel like staying here."

"Good, I wish you would. I mean, get back here as soon as you can, where I can watch you. I mean, we few lonely without you. You know how we feel."

"Oh, sure, I know how you feel. I'll try to create another cabinet crisis on my way east this side of Saskatoon. Ta, ta, old top. I'll call the newspaper boys right now and tell them everything is all right."

"This, of course, is just a bit of fantasy, but it seems to fit into the situation all right."

FOR TEA

WHILE I WAS LABORING here just now I heard a sudden thunder of noise in the north and a minute ago ten large airplanes went over like a flight of ducks. You probably saw them yourself—the United States bombing planes from Alaska. They had left Juneau just before lunch and were here at tea-time, bound for Seattle.

As you looked up in Victoria and observed this squadron did it give you any idea, or didn't it? In that busy and useful life of yours, in which you hardly dare pause for a moment, how easily collapse without your support, did you have time to imagine what an interesting thing it would have been if those bombing planes were intent on bombing instead of merely getting home? Did you have imagination enough to picture what kind of a man they would have made of this great capital of British Columbia in the course of a few moments?

Did you also picture how useful a fleet of battleships out in the Straits would have been against a fleet of airplanes which, with no consideration for the navy whatever, were intent on flying overhead from the north-west out of range from the sea?

I wonder if your imagination was powerful enough to observe that thirty years ago an airplane starting from Juneau before lunchtime would not reach any place at all by tea-time, and that twenty-five years from now, at the same rate of progress, a fleet of planes will be able to leave Moscow, Paris or Yokohama after a leisurely breakfast and be here in time for lunch, or certainly for an early tea? Of course you won't believe that, but neither would you have believed, thirty years ago, that anybody would ever fly here from Alaska before bedtime or after.

You won't be able to do anything about these things, but it will be good for your soul to think about them, and it will exercise your imagination when you talk glibly about the next war.

NEW NOTION

ONE OF THE big shots in the unemployment relief administration of the United States—his name, of course, is not to be mentioned—lately showed some imagination, a quality rare among those of the bigger sort. He decided to find out at first hand what was happening among the unemployed. So he let his whiskers grow, he put on some old clothes, he wandered about the cities of the country for a month in disguise, pretending to be one of the down-and-out.

He returned with some new ideas. He found that the unemployed, contrary to the generally-accepted official view, didn't want to be unemployed, didn't want to be on the dole, wanted to work. At least 90 per cent of them, he said, would prefer hard work to the present sort of dole.

This information should be valuable to many Canadian politicians and officials who have come to regard all relief as a kind of racket to be fought like kidnapping and burglary. It would be a good idea, in fact, if some of the big shots of unemployment relief, and a few federal cabinet ministers, were to let their whiskers grow, don some old clothes and mingle with the unemployed at first hand. Then the problem, instead of being so many figures in a book, might appear to them in its true light as a human feeling of people just as human, just as able to feel things, as cabinet ministers in Ottawa.

Also it might serve to dissipate the current impression that people soon grow so used to the dole that they prefer it to work. This idea has always intrigued me—the idea that a man who gets $17.50 a month for himself and his wife prefers this to getting about $100 a month for doing a job of work. I have never yet been able to discover any cabinet minister, official or expert who can tell me how the man and his wife manage to survive on the city conditions at all. Perhaps if one of these official gentry would disguise himself as a jobless man and mix with the other jobless he might find the answer, but probably he would starve to death in the attempt.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALICE MICHAELIS

PERISHED PETALS
 There is not even a fragrance left: These are, pressed petals have so long lain here.

Between the pages, they are quite brief Of flowerly flimsiness, nor does there apt In this brown hue a hint to tell to-day If they were white or crimson, chaste or gay.

Though once of sunset gold or water Only the pattern whispers now: "A Way, then, do these dry fragments bring again, Crieder, chorus while the long day ends, The sunset of summer and the August rain, A long brown backward as the lark ascends?"

What strange enchantment is this dust To show bright gardens where no flower stands?

WARNING!

The Times urges its correspondents to restrict their contributions to 500 words. It positively will not print lengthy communications.

These letters must be plainly written on one side of the paper only, and must be accompanied by the names and addresses of the writers, not necessarily for publication but as a guarantee of good faith.

Letters will not be re-written for publication, if they are not legible no attempt will be made to read them.

Letters not used will not be returned to the writers.

Letters containing offensive personal reflections will not be printed.

These rules, which heretofore will be carried out absolutely, are designed as much for the protection of our patient readers as for that of The Times.

A GALLANT LITTLE STUDENT

To the Editor:—The very worthy work done at the Queen's Alexandra Bazaar, including the educational part, is well known to most of us. Consequently, the following will be of interest.

It has come to my attention that one of the little bed-ridden inmates, who will have to remain at the bazaar for some time yet, qualified by the regular provincial examination for high school.

This is beyond the bazaar curriculum, but it has been arranged with the Provincial Educational Department that her education will be carried through correspondence. Books to the value of $20 are required, and to accomplish such a small necessary sum to enable this brilliant little patient to carry on her education should surely be no difficulty.

Might I suggest that interested parties willing to help forward their contributions to The Times office?

peace parade was by an elderly lady, especially where she stressed the necessity of the League of Nations. Also may I say the young lady, who spoke so forcefully against going to war and some of those fiery young men speakers, what they think they would be doing now and who they would be paying taxes to if the Canadians in 1914 and 1915 and 1916 especially had all been C.C.F. or communists. Because everyone knows now, that had the Germans not been held in those three years, whether we wanted to fight or not, they would have gone through France and England, and Canada would then have been easy pickings, so it is also now very well known and admitted, that the United States could not have protected us. So had we things as they would have been much worse if Germany had not been kept in her own country. Please, dear people, believe the poor fellows alone that fought for you in the last war. But do as you like—fight or not fight. Being unprotected has not saved China; neither will it save you in the next war, if there is one.

AN OLD SWEAT.

ACT OF HEROISM

To the Editor:—It is my earnest desire to publicly thank Mr. Fred Sanders, Esquimalt, through the medium of your valuable paper, and also bring the following matter to the attention of the Royal Humane Society, as such an act of heroism should receive the recognition it warrants.

Mr. Sanders and myself were fishing last Sunday in an up-island lake, he on the rocks on the opposite shore and I on an improvised raft. We were separated by some considerable distance when it was my misfortune to capsize the raft and fall into very deep water. Not being able to swim I remember only that I struggled for some time and then evidently lost consciousness. During this time Mr. Sanders' attention had been attracted by my wife's screams from shore, and I am led to believe that Mr. Sanders dived fully clothed and brought me out of the dangerous situation at the bottom of the lake, swam ashore with me and undoubtedly saved my life.

In view of the foregoing, I would deem it a great privilege if you would kindly give this matter the publicity it rightly deserves.

SYMBIOTIC OR SACRIFICIALISTS

To the Editor:—Cor Ad Cor: Per Humana Vocem Vox Dei Loquitur. Some of us blame William Reuter for egotistic self-assurance in his lines. "I am the master of my fate; I am the captain of my soul." O shallow, foolish, critic! In short, dangerous passages, does not every captain (unless a plain fool) take on a pilot? And may we not, right now, before "crossing the bar," see and take expert personal guidance from "Our Pilot"—Face to Face (cor ad cor)? Let I am with you always! He gives the course, but we must throw over the wheel. Ask the dean or any of your friends in the Oxford Group. Ask them too why they go much to Empress Hotel, Lake Louise and Jasper Lodge and not only into the slums of lower Johnson Street with the Salvation Army, and (along side of our regular clergy) unto those "sick and in prison," in the hospitals and at Oakalla. Is it because they are fond of soft living, or drawn by the purple and fine lines of those who "live in King's House"? Is it not rather for the love of One who said: "He that will be my disciple, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me?"

And let my British-Israel friends take heart of hope—especially when persecuted by pulpits or denied a fair hearing in the daily press. They are not the first to suffer in that way—to suffer for devotion to one of the many great phases of the Absolute Truth.

As for you, ye "Bright Young Things" of modern youth, if you are not wiser than you are, blame it on your fathers were, nor can even faintly see God's will that you should not only be better than your ancestors but better than your own dead selves, and rise on stepping stones from those outworn ways to higher reaches and more sunny paths, you are all in the same boat!

And, but one only hope, at that a "Boat of Doom!" Do not take it on the word of a mere layman. Ask any of the successors of those Galilean fishermen, who are to-day "fishing for men" right here in Victoria—men who did not elect themselves to be "Stewards of the Mysteries of God"—rather of whom He said, "But I have chosen you" (I care not of what communion or institutional name). You will learn on authority of God's Holy Spirit, straightly depicted through them in these words: "Blessed be the Holy Ghost, Whosoever sins ye remit, they are remitted unto them; and whosoever sins ye retain, they are retained."

RUN DOWN? Let Bran Flakes Help You

Health's in appetizing Bran Flakes

START now to banish your sallow cheeks—lack-lustre eyes—lead-steps. Maybe you are run down through that common disorder—constipation caused by lack of proper bulk in the diet. Post's Bran Flakes With Other Parts of Wheat has benefited millions. Eat this appetizing breakfast dish regularly, or at any meal. Delicious and effective. Try Post's Bran Flakes in Bran muffins, too. You'll enjoy them immensely. Recipe is on the package. Post's Bran Flakes is made in Canada.

Constipation due to insufficient roughage in the diet should yield to Post's Bran Flakes eaten regularly. A competent physician should be consulted for cases not corrected in this simple manner.

A new transcontinental speed record between Halifax, N.S. and Vancouver, B.C., has just been established by a Studebaker Dictator St. Regis Sedan, with MacKenzie at the wheel. This car traveled 4,584 miles between these two widely-separated points in a total elapsed time of 84 hours and 25 minutes for an average of 54.75 miles per hour. Leaving Halifax Tuesday, August 7, finishing into Vancouver, MacKenzie was met by a motorcycle escort and immediately whisked to the telegraph office, where he officially checked in at 1:35 p.m. Pacific Time, Friday, August 10. This car will be on display at the Hamilton Motor Company's showrooms this week.

this inextinguishable truth, viz. that it were better for you that "your right hand should forget her cunning, and your tongue cleave to the roof of your mouth," or ever you put aside that "right hand" that brings to you His all-saving sacrifice.

"Then said Jesus to them again, Peace be unto you; as my Father hath sent me, even so send I you. And when He had said this He breathed on them, and said unto them, Receive ye the Holy Ghost."

"To be My witness." Would not every one of us love to be a true witness for Him? But "witnessing" is more than a mere profession of faith. It is a way of life that involves suffering. Are we all so ready to suffer, meekly such things as He suffered? Then to the loss of the material useful, intellectual and beautiful things implied by our modern word "civilization"? To save these good things to us, we must be willing to sacrifice them, to lay them down on the altar of duty—our inspiration and our hope in the thought that:

"We once or twice in our rude island story,
The path of duty was the way to glory."

—not their glory or our, but to the greater glory of God.

"Love took up the Harp of Life,
And smote the strings with all his might,
Smote the chord of Self, that trembled,
Passed in music out of sight."

It is finished. Except to say that anyone unable to construe the line of Latin over this letter may take this verse from the Prophet Zachariah (Zech. iv. 6) as a free translation:

"Not by might nor by power, but by My Spirit, saith the Lord of Hosts"—to whom be all glory, praise, thanksgiving and honor, now and for ever more.—Amen.

ESQUIMAULT AND WATER

To the Editor:—According to a United Press dispatch twelve persons in Esquimalt died of typhoid fever, all from typhoid fever. They were unemployed and unable to meet water bills long past due, and were drinking water from an old well.

City authorities ordered examination of the water, which revealed the presence of typhoid germs. At the Esquimalt hospital, where the typhoid cases are reported to be, the water is being used for non-payment of water accounts.

The municipal council refused to take steps towards solution of this problem and the reverend and council consistently refers all delegations from any public bodies to other authorities. To me they seem to be using this bad state of affairs as a lever to hold up the scales for increased grants from senior bodies.

The increased grants are badly needed, admittedly, but meanwhile the municipal health officer will come on a man's property and tell him the well water his family is using is unfit for human consumption, but when asked to order the water turned on he says that is not his business.

Reverend Lockley tells how sorry he is, and admits it is wrong from humanitarian and a sanitary point of view, but still will not take positive steps towards correction.

On different occasions the provincial government has been asked to act. Why does the provincial health officer, as head of the health department of the whole province, allow this to go on? Can he be that he also thinks that everything is satisfactory?

The municipal health officer insists there is no danger of disease. The name, I presume, is Doctor. If disease does break out, as in Decatur, in spite of the lack of danger, who takes the responsibility? Nobody. In my opinion every member of the council, knowing the situation, refuses to raise his voice in protest, shares the responsibility.

Electric light may be shut off for non-payment of rates; also telephone is water in the same category? I think not.

Water is a necessity put on earth for the use of all, and to allow control to the extent that persons with such lack of vision or moral integrity can create such a situation according to law shows need for an immediate change in the law.

The Esquimalt Ratepayers' Association decides discussion on the subject is out of order at their meetings. Fine. Hold points in when passing a dead dog and you will not know the odor is there.

As the powers that be will not pay much attention to protests from the comparatively few people actually affected, let the good people of this section of the country register their strong disapproval and demand water in every house. Our law books on water provisions being shown on all blue-prints for houses to be built where water is laid on, so why not make it a law that it be laid on, as long as said houses are occupied by humans.

TO HELP VICTORIA

To the Editor:—Last year a visitor was requested to give a list of Victorians to serve fighting while Rome burned. I confess the phrase has stuck in my mind, along with one other, "When I became a man I put away childish things." Recently a test of the former occurred to me, to submit a list of books to our libraries. On the average, these libraries contained nine titles of the list of eighty, the Public Library having the largest number, thirty-seven, with twelve duplicate. These books related to one subject, that which is in every school and that I might wish to give a talk upon this subject to any interested Victorians. On July 15 I had happened at the same matter in the Victoria States Government building this town for workers on the new dam, without benefit of real estate speculators, agents, sub-contractors or other vested interests.

Cubs And Cards Continue Race In National League Baseball

THE SPORTS MIRROR

SOONER OR later track and field athletes will come into their own in Victoria. Just at present, in spite of the keenness of competition, the ranks of followers of the sport here are very limited. It is difficult to understand the cause.

To the average layman, the performance of some of the city's best is almost as good as that of the international top-notchers. There are only split seconds between local and first rate sprint times. That means very little to anyone except the expert.

The race from a pretty sport to watch as can be found. Seldom a meet passes without some color developing, and the boys who perform adhere to a high standard of sportsmanship.

The game deserves a boost from the sports-minded. On Saturday Victoria will be given an opportunity to show its appreciation of running and field events in a big meet organized by the Y.M.C.A. and which will meet probably see inter-city stars in action. It should be well worth anyone's while to make a trip to Macdonald Park to watch the contest.

Sleepy-eyed men and women who had waited all night to get into the grounds, led a huge throng of operators hours before the season's final and decisive test cricket match between England and Australia got under way at the Oval, London, on Saturday. Fifteen thousand were already in the stands an hour before the match.

The crowd was mainly discussing the eleventh-hour invitation to the veteran Frank Woolley, stout Kent batsman, to join the Oval, London, on Saturday. Fifteen thousand were already in the stands an hour before the match.

Judging from the reaction of the first day's play, there must have been quite a murmur, too, over the absence of William Voce from the bowling line.

To an outsider, it must appear strange that the Victoria Yacht Club's fleet of racing yachts should not play against them. Although not literally true of the first fleet, the club has taken preceding selection indicated a trend towards that procedure.

A sport which has witnessed a marked development this year with an increase in popularity is yachting. Situated as it is in Victoria, it is ideal for the promotion of this famous sport, which this summer has attracted a large number of younger people into its fold.

While there have been few boats added to the local Victoria Yacht Club's fleet, the competition has become keener through the added interest and no doubt within the next year or two the club will have to find moorings for additional sailing craft.

While yachting is generally considered a wealthy man's pastime, it is remarkable to note how cheaply a small sailing craft, from which practically most pleasure is derived, may be kept up. The sailing craft, the smallest of the racing craft in these waters, can yet, however, with comparative ease on average means, and it can be safely said that probably no one gets as much enjoyment out of sailing as the dinghy owner.

The star boat of the next jump up in class. These are the trim craft, which are most popular for racing, and which provide their crews with thrills galore. As a rule these boats are of the type of sailing craft in most yacht clubs and annual international races in which they participate always provide the keenest of competition.

With the view of hard times in the north, the interest in the small craft is shown this year in ships, the smallest of sailing boats used for racing purposes. These are the cheaply constructed, smaller than the dinghies, yet provide all the thrills of sailing. None of these have made an appearance, however, although several are reported under construction by amateur boat builders of the local club.

Another notable development in sport in Victoria, this season is revolver shooting. While for several years past this has been confined chiefly to police circles, this year the Vancouver Island Revolver Club blossomed out under the organization of Dr. S. A. K. White and Claude L. Harrison, city prosecutor.

Dr. White and Mr. Harrison are ardent students of the art of revolver shooting and have devoted much of their time to instruction. The layman often scoffs at the idea of difficulty entering into the accurate firing of a revolver. This same layman, however, will find it a entirely different proposition when he undertakes to teach himself, firing at a target twenty yards away.

The revolver club boasts a fair-sized membership at present, and negotiations are proceeding to secure a private range for exclusive use by the members. With a group of competent officers at the head it is expected to be a force considerably this winter in the hope that it may provide some reasonable competition in police and civilian competitions of next season.

Giants Keep Ahead Of Pressing Clubs In Pennant Battle

NEW TENNIS CHAMPIONS

Crowns Rest on Different Heads as Defenders Fail in Western Canada Play

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Aug. 20.—Western Canada's tennis crown to-day perched atop the heads of their new owners. Not a single 1933 titleholder survived a long week of competition which concluded Saturday at the Manitoba hard courts tennis tourney.

Eddie McKush, brilliant young Winnipegger annexed the men's singles crown from the veteran Walter Oyles and then paired with his brother, Otto, to win the men's doubles. Later McKush added to his trophies the mixed doubles title. George Robinson, Montreal, Canadian junior champion, eked out a close victory over Bill Stark of Calgary to win the western junior title. Start led the junior titleholder 4 to 6 in the final set before yielding the title. The score was 11-9, 1-6, 6-4.

MEN'S DOUBLES
The men's junior doubles crown was won by Cuthbert Hoppe and Marshall Smith of Winnipeg. They out-drove the brilliant prairie team of Start and Jimmie Thompson of Moose Jaw to score a straight set victory, 6-3, 7-6.

Mrs. Gordon Pitt of Winnipeg regained the women's singles crown which was hers in 1933, when she vanquished Mrs. J. E. Delmage of Dauphin, 6-2, 6-3.

The women's doubles title went to Phoebe Williamson and Mabel Benson, Winnipeg. They defeated Mrs. Delmage and Mrs. Frank Devlin, Winnipeg, in three hard-fought sets, 6-2, 5-7, 8-6.

MIXED DOUBLES
In the mixed open doubles final set, Eddie McKush teamed with Mrs. Gordon Pitt of Winnipeg to turn back the strong western threat of Ernie Anderson of Calgary and Mrs. Ellen Johnson of Edmonton. The final score was 6-1, 6-4.

McKush's unerring dandy speed and a brilliant repertoire of stroke to unseat the veteran Oyles in the men's singles event. The match was a spectacular. Teamed with his brother Otto, he blasted the hopes of Oyles and Jack Adams, Winnipeg, 6-1, 6-6, 6-3, 6-3.

GORGE VALE RECORD SET
H. H. Allen Scores a 72; V. S. Tully Makes Hole-in-one; F. Painter Wins Tombstone

F. Painter won the tombstone competition played at the Gorge Vale Golf Club yesterday, finishing in the cup at the twentieth hole. A. T. Harkin and H. H. Allen tied for second place on the twentieth green.

In the afternoon, while playing with Frank Thomas, Mr. Allen bested par by two strokes and earned the honor of being the first player to better par on the full eighteen holes. The card follows:

Par out 55 44 43 35 35—38
Allen out 44 44 43 35 35—38
Par in 55 44 43 35 35—74
Allen in 55 44 43 35 35—72

For fifteen holes, Mr. Allen was four under par, having scored four birdies and eleven pars, but he went one over par at both the sixteenth and eighteenth.

Another event at the club was a hole-in-one by V. S. Tully on the 180-yard fourteenth. He was playing with J. Ward.

Fine Pitching Gives Chicago Double Victory in Sunday Fixtures

TIGERS, YANKS EACH WIN PAIR

By Hugh S. Fullerton Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer
The National League's leaders, New York Giants, held a five-game lead in the pennant race to-day, and it looked none too big as it stacked up against some of the recent performances by their two rivals in the pennant chase, Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cards staged a great spurt during the last week, winning five games in a row, and threatened to go into second place before they were held to a fifty-fifty share of a double-header by the Braves yesterday, while the Cubs rallied to win two games from the Phillies. Meanwhile the Giants had their hands full getting a single eleven-inning decision from Cincinnati, 6 to 4.

Superb pitching carried the Cubs to their double victory. Big Bill Lee turned in a five-hit game to take the opener 3 to 1. Guy Rush continued by limiting the Reds to six hits in a duel with Earl Moore and won 4 to 2 with the aid of Don Hurst's homer.

PAUL DEAN BEATEN
St. Louis almost kept pace with a double victory. Trailing 7 to 0 after four innings of the opener, they rallied to tie it up at 9 to 9 in the eighth before the Braves pushed over the tenth run against Paul Dean. The second game was somewhat different as the Cards drove over three runs in the first, helped by Jim Collins's twenty-ninth homer and Joe Adcock's sixteenth, and won 3 to 1 for Bill Walker.

Brooklyn exercised its "jinx" over Pittsburgh in the remaining game as Ray Benge limited the Pirates to four hits to win 3 to 1. It was the Dodgers' eighth straight triumph over their smoky city rivals.

TIGERS-YANKS WIN
The Tigers and Yankees, four and a half games apart after Saturday's clashes, maintained the two club status of the American League race by winning a double-header apiece.

The Tigers smashed the Red Sox into submission, 8 to 6 and 4 to 3. Lefty Grove took it on the chin in the first clinch. Young Eddies Auker got the better of Rube Walberg in the second.

The Yanks got off to a flying start by scoring five runs off Rupp Hendry in the first three innings and defeated the Browns 9 to 3 and 2 to 1. The Athletics turned back Cleveland 9 to 5 behind Muffin Cain's seven-hit flinging, but suffered a severe setback when Jimmy Fox was put out of action before the game.

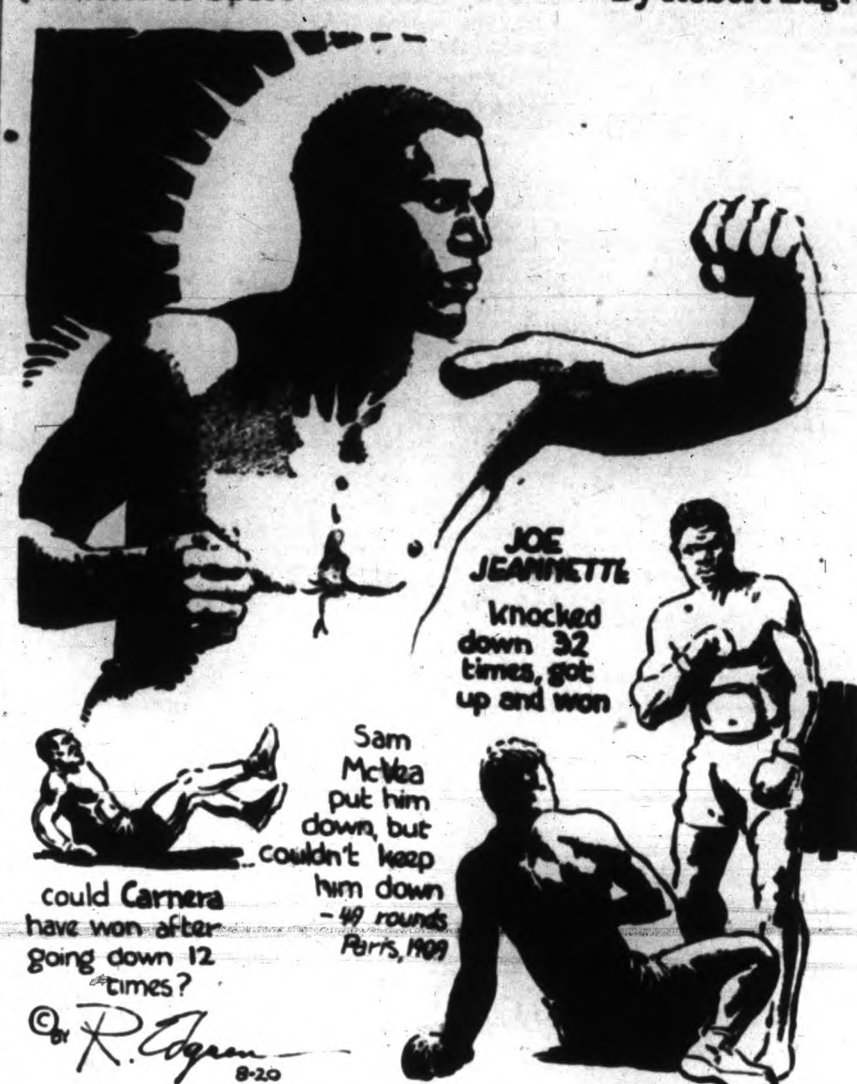

Jackie Jensen held the Athletics to a shutout by a batted ball in pre-game practice.

WALLOP ALLEN BENSON
Chicago White Sox celebrated the big league debut of Allen Benson, Washington's pink-bearded pitcher two miles from Denver, by driving him out in the eighth, then got two more runs off Alex McColl in the ninth, 9 to 8 triumph over the Sox.

In the American, Saturday, Boston surprised by routing a ninth inning rally by Detroit to down the league leaders 8 to 1. Bill Dickey singled in the twelfth inning with bases loaded and Bill Hallahan held the Braves to five blows as St. Louis won 18 to 0.

Helen Jacobs Retains U.S. Women's Net Title

Wins Men's Tennis Singles; Jean Milne Defeats Eleanor Young in Final

Defeats Sarah Palfrey 6-1, 6-4 in Final; Helen and Sarah Then Team to Win Doubles Crown Point Mills, N.Y., Aug. 20.—Helen Milne Jacobs of Berkeley, Calif., won the United States women's tennis championship for the third successive year yesterday, conquering Little Sarah Palfrey of Brookline, Mass., in straight sets, 6-1, 6-4.

Outmanoeuvring her diminutive opponent with vicious chop-shots and spinners, Miss Jacobs retained her title in forty-three minutes of play and became the third player to win the championship three straight years, equalling the records of Molla Mallory and Helen Wills Moody.

Except for a brief lapse in the second set, her control was unshakable. Another decisive factor in the champion's triumph was her service. Miss Jacobs was credited with four clean aces.

WIN DOUBLES
Miss Jacobs and Miss Palfrey then paired to win the doubles title. They teamed well together to defeat Dorothy Andrus of Stamford, Conn., and Carolyn Babcock of Los Angeles, the best players in the singles semifinal Saturday, in three sets, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4.

In an exhibition match, Fred Perry, British holder of the United States men's title, and Roderich Menzel, towering Czechoslovakian, broke even. Menzel winning the first set 7-5 and Perry taking the second set 6-4.

To STAY AMATEUR
A few minutes after Helen Jacobs won the U.S. women's tennis championship for the third successive year she received an offer from Bill Dwyer, sports promoter, to turn professional provided a suitable opponent could be found for her.

Miss Jacobs smiled and said: "I'm not considering turning professional."

At the same time there was a rumor O'Brien had offered Helen Jacobs a flat sum of $25,000 to give up her amateur standing.

THE BIG SIX

Al Simmons crashed into the Big Six yesterday and Paul Wanger slipped to the bottom standing in an afternoon of spotty hitting.

Simmons connected four times in six attempts, sending his average up four points to .260. That was not only his first three American League place by putting him ahead of Lou Gehrig, who hit only once in eight times up, but placed him a point ahead of Wanger, who dropped two points when he made three hits in six attempts.

Bill Terry's three hits in five times up placed him a point gain for a .376 average, leaving him only one point behind Heinie Manush, who dropped another point by failing to hit in his one time up. Charley Cobbinger fumbled six attempts, dropping five points. The standing:

Meiklejohn's Goal Gives Rangers Win

Lone Tally Deciding Feature in Motherwell's Defeat By Last Season's Rivals

Canadian Press Cable

Glasgow, Scotland, Aug. 20.—Glasgow Rangers, monarchs of the Scottish Football League, have another victory over their arch-rivals, Motherwell, to their credit. Forty thousand people turned out at Ibrox Park, even if it is the middle of summer, to see Rangers beat Motherwell by the only goal scored Saturday.

The two eleven battled at the top all last season, Rangers winning out to cop the championship. Their first clash in the new season came on the second scheduled day of play and the home side won a brilliant victory.

Meiklejohn's counter in the first half was the only goal scored in the duel. It was a battle of forward lines throughout.

Early season play sees strange company at the head of the first division—Rangers, Hibernians and Clyde. Hibernians scored their second victory at the expense of Kilmarnock, 1 to 0, while Clyde won 2 to 1 over Dunfermline, up from the second division this season. The first-half goal by Moffatt gave the Hibs victory at Kilmarnock, where the home team did everything but score. At Clyde the winners showed improved form over last season.

CELTIC-HEARTS DRAW
Celtic and Hearts, each with an initial win, split points at Tynecastle. Celtic showed a rearranged team and their forwards did well.

Hearts was brilliant in goal for the Hearts. St. Johnstone got up in a three-way tie by adding a victory, 4 to 1, over Airdrieonians, to their draw of last week. The Hearts were on top throughout, Ferguson getting two goals in the first half and Davidson two in the second.

Albion Rovers, who came up into the first division with Dunfermline and lost their first game, won their first home encounter 2 to 0 at the expense of Partick Thistle. The win, about the only upset of the day, was scored with goals by Renwick in each half.

QUEEN'S PARK WINS
Queen's Park pleased the home crowd with their first win, beating Motherwell, the cup hunters, 4 to 1. Dodds, twice, Crawford and Martin were the scorers.

Raith Rovers, Leith Athletic and Dundee United were the only teams to repeat their first game, with Raith Rovers battling to a 2 to 2 tie at East Stirling. But Cowdenbeath, who faded the first division practically all last winter, took a sudden defeat, this time losing 2 to 1 to Forfar Athletic at home.

EXHIBITION BALL SPLIT
Bellingham and Victoria Sons of Canada Divide Twin Bill at Park

Tightening up in the nightcap after throwing away the afternoon fixture through sloppy play, Sons of Canada handed Bellingham a 9-to-2 setback in the exhibition ball fixture at the Athletic Park Saturday evening.

In the afternoon the United States team won 7 to 4.

Tommy Musgrave turned in a smart performance in the knockout for the Sons in the evening, holding the visitors to three aces.

Secretion until the seventh and last inning, Bellingham pushed across two runners, Smith and Martinovich getting home in that frame.

Harold toured the sacks three times, Morgan and Haines twice each and Bacon and Holman once apiece to give the locals their nightcap runs, one in each of the third and fourth, four in the fifth, and three in the sixth.

Masterton started for Bellingham but was driven from the box in the sixth, replaced by Greenwell.

AFTERNOON GAME
In the afternoon Lloyd Clark allowed eight hits and a walk and the support was wobbly throughout as the Washington outfit chalked up the win.

The Canadians bunched their hits in the third to score five runs and pushed Masterton off the hillcock. Joe Martinovich finished the game.

Short scores follow:
Bellingham 013 001 110-7
Sons of Canada 105 000 000-4
Evening:
Sons of Canada 011 143-9
Bellingham 000 000-2

PATRICKS GO EAST AGAIN

Lester and Lynn Head for Winnipeg and New York After Holiday Here

Heading for the eastern sports fields on a journey which will eventually carry Lester back to the National Hockey League circuit with his headquarters in New York and may see Lynn break into the professional ranks, the two Patricks left Victoria this afternoon on the Seattle boat.

They will head first for Winnipeg, where arrangements will be made for the conditioning of the Rangers and where Lynn will whip himself into shape with a little Canadian football. There are prospects of the Victoria athlete playing on the Winnipeg grid team in the western Canadian finals if the squad goes through the season as it did last year.

Mum Patrick, younger brother, will remain in Victoria with Mrs. Patrick until November, when they will join the family in New York.

Both departing Patricks reported highly enjoyable holidays in their outlandish grounds here and both were active in sports during their short sojourn. Lester playing in the outlandish game and Lynn showing his form in English rugby.

A REAL FISH AND THE MAN WHO BEAT HIM

"Yes, sir, I caught it with my little hook and line," sang George I. Warren this morning as he exhibited this picture of his fifty-four-pound Tyee salmon which he caught yesterday at Campbell River. Only ten larger fish have been registered with the Tyee Club, and is Mr. Warren proud? Just try and pass him on the street to-day.

his guide had called, was dressed and waiting impatiently to get out and land his fish. Over the poles George and Ed. Forest, his guide, cruised and at 6 o'clock there was a strike that nearly pulled George and his two-hundred-and-some-pound out of the boat.

For one hour George played this big Tyee. Instead of running to the side this fish sounded like a whale and put such a terrific pressure on the rod that both George and Ed thought the rod would break, which would disqualify the catch.

Finally the Tyee came to the top and rolled over on his side, was pulled and pulled aboard. So that the fish would not lose weight through bleeding, George refused to have the hook removed and went ashore immediately. He routed the official weigher out of a comfortable bed and the fish was entered at fifty-three pounds.

Mr. Warren spent the rest of the morning experimenting with his new upon, a Moe West. But Moe's lures didn't fool the Tyee and they passed her by.

Mr. Warren returned to town last night with his big Tyee, his coat of honour and his companion, who during all this excitement, managed to land a grilse.

The big fish was on exhibit at Finley and Ritchie's this morning and attracted much attention.

PAYNE FAMILY BEATS INCOGS

Father and Two Sons Take All Wickets as Five C's Win; Other Matches

With the Payne family, Percy, the daddy, and George and Jack, the chips off the old block, taking all their wickets cheaply, Incoogs were all out for 73 against the Five C's at the University School grounds Saturday afternoon.

Payne plus Eric Quinton then proceeded to knock up enough runs between them to pass their opponents' total and help materially in bringing their own team's aggregate to 114.

Other results follow:

Victoria defeated Cowichan, 127 to 40, at Macdonald Park.

Wanderers and Albions played to a draw at Beacon Hill.

It was "Payne Day" at the University School, with the Incoogs more or less collapsing after Percy, George and Jack.

Barring accidents, Newark Bears, Rochester Redwings and Toronto Maple Leafs appear to-day to be assured of three of the four berths in the International League's playoff series to determine a loop representative in the Little World Series against the American Association winner. But the fourth berth still is the subject of a wide open argument among Albany Senators, Buffalo Bisons and, to a lesser degree, Montreal Royals.

With three weeks of the regular season yet to go, Albany and Buffalo are locked in a virtual tie for fourth place with the Royals two games behind. After Albany had taken a 10 to 4 beating from Buffalo yesterday, the Senators still held fourth place, although the percentages had to be carried to five figures before Albany's advantage could be discerned.

STANDINGS

The relative standings of the two rivals are:

Won Lost Pct.

Albany 65 64 .5087

Buffalo 66 65 .5081

Montreal lost ground by splitting two games with Albany and Royals won the opening game 7 to 5, and Baltimore, the nightcap, 2 to 1.

Newark, meanwhile, further demonstrated its complete mastery of Rochester, winning its second in a row during the current series, 8 to 1, behind Marvin Duke's effective pitching.

Toronto, holding third place four and a half games behind Rochester and six games ahead of Albany and Buffalo, was idle as was seventh-place Syracuse.

ROCHESTER SET BACK

Rochester's fast coming birds were tossed back on their haunches by the league's pace-setters Saturday when Newark won 5 to 4. Baltimore wiped out a five-run Montreal lead, when they crammed six runs into the eighth inning to win 9 to 7. Toronto won easily 8 to 2 in the first game of a bargain bill, but weakened as Syracuse came on to win the tenning nightcap 3 to 2.

WEEKLY MARKET REVIEW

By ALEX. FRINGLE

Canadian Press Financial Writer

Toronto, Aug. 20.—Outside buying supplied the fuel for most of the Canadian market action. London was reported to be a buyer of International Nickel, Falconbridge Nickel and Canadian Traction, while New York was in the market for Distillers

Corporation, Imperial Oil and several of the mining stocks, including Gold

Hogart.

Brazilian pulled along to $10.85, its high price since the $10.50

months. International Petroleum

heavily during the week, it registered

a rise of nearly two points to $29.37, on a turnover of 6,000 shares.

Although Distillers changed hands

heavily during the week, it registered

only a modest gain and Walker's common was up a point on small volume. Ford "A" and the other interior shares lagged with the

New York market, the industrial board showing as many losses as gains at the week-end.

Mining shares were even more sensitive to United States influences than the industrial. Drying up of inflation hopes (or fears) across the border has resulted in a more cautious trade in the gold in general and base metal and silver stocks are still unsettled from the churning given them two weeks ago by the silver nationalization move at Washington.

It has now become evident that

Washington will pipe down on inflation until the government's refunding operations to be carried out in September, are completed. It has already been announced that currency certificates will be issued against the gold in general and nationalization, only up to the cost of the metal for the present.

It can be assumed that at the opportunity time the metal will be written up to $120, the price fixed by the silver purchase act, and certificates issued on that basis. More than $6,000,000 in silver is now on the ocean en route to New York from Europe, and press reports suggest that gold is going from New York to Europe to pay for it. Washington's advance of $1.35 for the week was reported to be the result of glowing reports about discoveries

on the company's property in Hispan-

ola. The stock price rose 600.15 yesterday, the highest price recorded for the share since 1927, when the price touched $27.50.

Several of the cheaper gold issues came into prominence again during the week. Since was a feature, trading in heavy volume, and Syl-vanite, Read-Author, McKenna Red and others.

AFTER BRITISH CRUISER HIT TANKER IN MONTREAL

This interesting picture taken in the harbor at Montreal, shows the oil tanker Maplebranch as she was about to sink after being struck by the stern of H.M.S. Dragon. Tugs rapidly got hold of her after she had been crushed amidships, between the stern of the cruiser and the side of the St. Lawrence, but the water poured into the tanker so quickly that she could be held up by ropes from the dock. The Maplebranch was re-fueling the St. Lawrence when the Dragon crashed into her. The Dragon hit the Maplebranch trying to dodge the St. Lawrence, which was turning in the basin at Montreal.

Local Whalers Are Having Good Season

To Date They Have Taken 310 Whales, 15,000 Barrels of Oil and 1,000 Tons of By-products

The best season in years is being experienced by the six vessels of the Victoria whaling fleet, now out in waters adjacent to the Queen Charlotte Islands, William Schupp, president of the Consolidated Whaling Corporation, stated in Victoria over the week-end. To date the six local vessels have killed 310 whales, and they still have another month to go.

The tender Gray, which makes frequent visits to Victoria and Seattle from the whaling bases of Rose Harbor and Haden Harbor, has brought out 15,000 barrels of oil so far this season. About 1,000 tons of dried blood and meat and bone phosphate have been manufactured from the local ships' catches.

While prices for whale oil are 40 per cent higher than last year, they are still comparatively low, or about 50 per cent under the 1923 levels. Mr. Schupp stated. However, the value of the oil and the by-products will run into a big sum and the 250 men employed on the local boats will have a good payroll awaiting them when they return to port late next month.

The American Pacific Whaling Company of Seattle, of which Mr. Schupp is also president, has taken 223 whales to date this season, and has secured 12,000 barrels of oil and another 1,000 tons of by-products.

The difference in oil production is accounted for, Mr. Schupp said, by the different species of whales killed by the two concerns. In British Columbia waters the catch is about 90 per cent sperm whales, which produce more oil than other varieties, with a few blue whales, finbacks and humpbacks, while in Alaskan waters, where the U.S. boats operate, fewer sperm whales are taken.

The vessels of the Victoria fleet are the Black and White, the W. Grant, the Brown and the Green.

FIVE DROWN IN BOAT MISHAP ON COLUMBIA

FAMOUS CABLE SHIP IS SOLD

Colonia Once Laid All-British Cable From West Coast to Fanning Island

Vancouver, Aug. 20.—The sale of the whaling factory ship Torod by the Odd Company to a new concern, the Northern Whale Production Company, is another chapter in the history of a particularly interesting ship. She was originally the cable ship Colonia, built in 1902 for the Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company, her gross tonnage of 7,970 made her the world's largest cable ship, a title which she retained until the construction of the Dominion. She was designed to carry 3,000 miles of cable in four large tanks, and with her trial speed of 14 knots she was the last word in cable ship construction.

FIVE DROWN IN BOAT MISHAP ON COLUMBIA

FAMOUS CABLE SHIP IS SOLD

Colonia Once Laid All-British Cable From West Coast to Fanning Island

Vancouver, Aug. 20.—The sale of the whaling factory ship Torod by the Odd Company to a new concern, the Northern Whale Production Company, is another chapter in the history of a particularly interesting ship. She was originally the cable ship Colonia, built in 1902 for the Telegraph Construction and Maintenance Company, her gross tonnage of 7,970 made her the world's largest cable ship, a title which she retained until the construction of the Dominion. She was designed to carry 3,000 miles of cable in four large tanks, and with her trial speed of 14 knots she was the last word in cable ship construction.

LADIES SAIL RACING BOATS

Mrs. Adams in the Taseko and Miss Fleming in the Dabchick Win Events

Mrs. Cliff Adams in the Taseko, and Miss Fleming in the Dabchick, were the victors in Saturday afternoon's races for slugs and dinghies, at Cadboro Bay, under the auspices of the Royal Victoria Yacht Club. The occasion was ladies' day, and the fair sex had things all their own way.

The Minkas, sailed by Miss O. Gray, was second in this race, with the Boykin, Miss E. Hastings, third, and the Genie, Miss June Blandy, in fourth position.

Second in the dinghy race was Miss O. Cooney in the Onaway, followed by Mrs. Young in the Kismet, Miss F. Young in the Kismet, and the Genie, Miss June Blandy, in fourth position.

The starboard got away at 3 o'clock and finished in the following order: Taseko, 4:38.01 p.m.; Minkas, 4:39.45; Onaway, 4:39.50 p.m.; Kismet, 4:40.00 p.m.; Genie, 4:40.00 p.m.; Taseko, 4:40.00 p.m.; Minkas, 4:40.00 p.m.; Onaway, 4:40.00 p.m.; Kismet, 4:40.00 p.m.; Genie, 4:40.00 p.m.

Next Saturday there will be races for all classes of sail and motor boats from the Yacht Club moorings at Cadboro Bay to Redwell Harbor. The motor boats will race in the sixth of the series for the Burchell Cup.
